MWC Designated Bicentennial Campus

Mary Washington College has been designated an official Bicentennial Campus by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA).

The designation was made on the strength of the College's commitment to programs dealing with various aspects of the Revolutionary period. Ongoing and proposed programs cited as significant by the ARBA included the weekly public bicentennial lectures and the related course in the Bicentennial, the upcoming early American music concerts by both the College-Community Orchestra and the MWC Chorus, and the premier production of the play, Belvidera, based on the journals of John Harrower, a prominent 18th Century planter whose mansion was near Fredericksburg.

As part of its responsibilities as a Bicentennial campus, the College will be focusing on the nine broad themes of the national ARBA observance: Heritage '76, a study of the history of the Revolution; Festival USA, focusing on the spirit of America; and Horizons '76, a look ahead at America and a rededication to the common purposes of the country.

The College's faculty-student Bicentennial committee, established last year, was recognized by the ARBA as being effective in its programs and broadly representative of the College community. The committee, under Chairman Dr. Samuel T. Emory, includes eight members of the faculty and two students from various disciplines.

The Committee's major program for the first semester, the weekly lecture series sponsored by the Department of History, has proven popular for members of both the College and Fredericksburg communities. The Tuesday night talks, which have drawn consistently large crowds, have covered topics from causes and events to personalities and consequences of the American Revolution.

The Official ARBA Symbol

The lecture series scheduled for the second semester will involve a broader range of perspectives on the Revolution, including discussions of the music, the life styles and the medicine of the era.In addition, a number of lectures will focus on the Revolutionary-era offerings of Fredericksburg, such as the Kenmore Mansion, the Hugh Mercer Apothecary Shop and the newly uncovered Gun Factory.

Two musical organizations at MWC will soon be presenting concerts featuring early American music. The College-Community Orchestra has concerts planned for December 2, March 26 and April 14, and the MWC Chorus has a special Bicentennial Concert slated for March.

The MWC Player production of Belvidera will highlight some of the Revolutionary history of the Fredericksburg area. Written by MWC Professor Dr. Roger Kenvin, the play is the story of John Harrower, an 18th Century Scotsman whose estate gave the name to the play.

Designation as a Bicentennial Campus will give Mary Washington College the right to use the official ARBA symbol on its publications. In addition, an official Bicentennial Flag will be presented to the College later this month.

Internship Program Started

Under a newly-created Internship Program, selected Mary Washington College students are applying the concepts and skills of their liberal arts education to off-campus experiences in business, industry and governmental agencies. Under this new program, juniors and seniors can gain up to twelve credit hours for work in approved internship situations.

Though still in its first semester of operation, the program is already sponsoring 17 students who are utilizing their academic training with such organizations as the Federal Reserve Bank, the Caroline Progress newspaper and the Rappahannock Area Development Council.

Under the faculty-established guidelines for the program, the students work through their academic departments in developing proposals for work programs with host businesses. These proposals must be approved and given credit values before the student is placed, either full- or part-time, as an intern. The supervision and guidance for the student are shared by the host agency and a faculty coordinator, and evaluation of the off-campus experience is made jointly at the end of the semester.

Before the recent adoption of the program by the College, several departments had already sponsored off-campus projects for students involved in independent study. Experience gained from those occasional projects was used in providing a sound basis for the Internship Program as a part of the total curriculum.

The overall program at Mary Washington College is being administered by the first Director of Internship Programs, Dr. Samuel T. Emory, a Professor of Geography who assumed the half-time post this fall. In addition to his new duties, Dr. Emory will continue to teach in his academic department.

MWC Receives Bequest

Mary Washington College has been named the recipient of a $54,755 bequest to be used for scholarships. The bequest was from the estate of Mrs. Maurine Jones Lienhard Arnott, a 1933 graduate of the College who died in California in August, 1974.

The funds, which represent one of the largest bequests ever received by the College, will be used as financial aid to "worthy and needy" students at the College, with priority given to female students, as stipulated in the will.

Fickett Re-elected Delegate

Lewis F. Fickett, Professor of Economics and Political Science, was re-elected on November 4 as a Delegate to the Virginia General Assembly. Dr. Fickett won one of the two seats which represent the 24th Legislative District, which includes the City of Fredericksburg and the counties of Stafford, Caroline and Hanover.

Psychology, Biology Top Student Majors

The disciplines of biology and psychology are the most popular major study fields among juniors and seniors at Mary Washington College, according to an annual survey recently completed by the Office of Academic Advising.

The next most popular majors at the liberal arts college are, in order, sociology, history and English, according to the survey.

The statistical report, which did not include both major fields of those students who major in more than one area, tallied the declared majors of 725 students who have completed at least 58 hours of study at MWC.

The survey showed that psychology and biology had the most majors, 76, of the 34 academic fields available to students at MWC. Psychology had been the single most popular major at the College for the past four years, and had 98 declared majors in last year's survey. Biology, which was ranked second last year, gained five majors this year to tie for the top spot.

The report also showed that most of the rest of the College's major fields continued with similar numbers this year as compared to last, with slight increases noted in sociology and history and decreases in American studies, political science and Spanish.

Sociology, which was fourth last year in the tally of majors, increased its total from 46 to 60 students and gained third place. History, with 57 majors as compared with 44 last year, moved up one notch to fourth, while English, despite gaining six students, slipped to fifth place with 56 majors.

Other academic disciplines with high numbers of majors at MWC include: economics, 36; studio art, 33; mathematics, 33; political science, 33; chemistry, 31; geography, 31; French, 20; and dramatic arts, 19.

Kappa Delta Pi Is 16th Honorary

A chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, a national honorary society in education, has been installed at Mary Washington College. A total of 51 students and recent graduates were initiated on October 24 as charter members of the Nu Xi Chapter of the society.

Representing the national organization at the installation were Dr. A. Keith Turkett, president of Kappa Delta Pi, and Dr. J. Richard McElheny, executive secretary of the society. With the installation, Kappa Delta Pi became the sixteenth national academic honorary society at MWC, joining such groups as Mortar Board, Alpha Phi Sigma and Phi Beta Kappa on the liberal arts campus.

Trip to Russia Offered by Alumni

The MWC Alumni Association has planned a March 5–14 travel offering which is open to the entire MWC "family." Parents, faculty, staff, students, alumni and other college friends are invited to participate in a fully escorted nine-day trip to Helsinki, Leningrad and Moscow. Planned to appeal to the sophisticated traveler, this all-inclusive trip will show you the finest of three dynamic and unforgettable cities.

The Association calls this Troika adventure "Samovars and Sibelius" and from the moment you board the deluxe Finnair jet in New York until you are returned, your senses will be awakened to the sights and sounds of the extraordinary Russian theater and ballet, the Hermitage Museum, Smolny Institute, St. Isaac's Cathedral, Peter and Paul Fortress, the architecture of Helinski with its Olympic stadium, Sibelius Monument, Parliament. . . . All this plus first class accommodations, all meals, more sightseeing, all transportation and transfers, a vodka and wine party, four theater visits, tips and taxes, for the low price of $697.00 per person (based on double occupancy with a New York departure).

Samovars and Sibelius has been planned to coincide with MWC's spring break and a special orientation program for all travel participants is planned for Thursday evening, March 4, on campus. Joseph Boorcevie, MWC professor of modern foreign languages, will conduct this program.

For detailed brochure and/or reservations contact Diana Koski, Director of Alumni Affairs, Box 1315, College Station, Fredericksburg, Va. 22401.

Homecoming '76

One great thing about Homecoming at MWC is that, unlike many other schools, we have no football games to get in the way of the truly important things! For instance, during Homecoming '76 on April 9 and 10, alumni will have the opportunity, not only to see the campus "dressed" for spring but, also, to see classmates and faculty members – not through a crowd of 30,000 screaming football fans – but on the same one-to-one basis enjoyed as students.

"The way it was then – the way we are" is the theme for this all alumni weekend. The reunion classes of 1916, '21, '26, '31, '36, '41, '46, '51, '56, '61, '66, and '71 are being honored.

We were serious students but, also, we were into the Waltz, Two-step, Charleston, Cha Cha, Lindy, Big Apple, Bossa Nova, Twist, Rock n' Roll, Frug, Boogaloo and now the Bump! Whatever you were "then," you can be again at Homecoming '76. We're planning a spring "formal" that's the "Cat's Meow." "The Loving End," "Out of Sight" and "Dyn-o-mite." The Spring Formal will be for the benefit of the Alumni Scholarship Fund and the dance committee hopes alumni will come dressed the way they were when they attended their last spring formal on campus.

We'll have a gala banquet in a candlelit Seacobeck, a chance to get reacquainted with our class friends and faculty, a bicentennial picnic at historic 'Belmont,' and the second annual Golden Club meeting. We've even lined up a few men to work on a husband's program.

We are doctors, lawyers, mothers, fathers, educators, community leaders. Honoring alumni accomplishments will also be an important part of Homecoming '76. On Friday, April 9, the Association will present as its gift to the nation's 200th birthday, a bicentennial concert featuring alumni performing artists. The Distinguished Alumnus Award will be given Saturday, April 10, and the annual alumni meeting will feature an alumna as principal speaker.

Fran Wisner '68, Homecoming Chairman, and her committee have planned an unforgettable weekend. And, without your attendance, something will be missing!

Memorial Fund Established for Ann Elizabeth Fitchen

A memorial fund has been established at Mary Washington College in honor of Ann Elizabeth Fitchen, the 1975 graduate who died in August of complications following surgery for spinal fusion. The fund was begun at the request of the parents, Lt. Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. Iver C. Fitchen of Oxon Hill, Maryland.

Miss Fitchen had graduated from MWC in May with Highest Distinction and with Final Honors in political science. At the College she was a member of numerous organizations and honorary societies, including Phi Beta Kappa, Pi Gamma Mu and Alpha Phi Sigma.

Persons who wish to contribute to the fund may do so through the Office of the Comptroller at the College.

Class Notes

Editor's Note: Alumni who have information to be included in the Class Notes section of MWC TODAY should send that information to the Class Agent appointed for the individual's graduating year. It is the responsibility of the Class Agent to compile the news of the class into brief letter format. Notices of births and deaths may be sent either to the Class Agent or to the Alumni Association, Box 1315, College Station, Fredericksburg, Virginia 22401.

In June, Anne Ware Bedinger had a reunion of MWC girls at her home at Ware's Wharf near Dunnsville. Those present from the class of 1915 were: Virginia Bolen, Edna Gibbs Hunter, Margaret Sayre Ransone, Elsie Wood Rice and Charlotte Rice Weymouth.

Virginia Bolen has had her niece with her most of the summer. Part of this period was spent in Germany. Virginia spends her time decorating table for fire department dinners and printing weekly church bulletins. I was interested in learning that the Mary Washington College president, Prince B. Woodard, once taught at Lane High School in Charlottesville, where Virginia was secretary.

Mary Snead plans to go into the new home here in Richmond being built by Presbyterian and Episcopal churches. Hettie Moore Deitrich has been moved there. Elsie's grandson from Texas has been home on a visit with his family. A granddaughter and family from South Carolina were with Elsie this summer.

Had a note of thanks from Willie Bivens Snipes '25, thanking me for pictures of her and her sister. Willie is Mrs. Tynce's sister. I heard that Belle Linthicum Masters lost her brother this summer. Sympathy for her and other relatives. Lillian Waring Edwards is recuperating from a recent operation.

I enjoyed a ten-day vacation to Treasure Island in August. In May, I attended a luncheon given by the Richmond Chapter honoring the new MWC president and his wife. In September, 27 MWC girls met at Lowery's Restaurant in Tappahannock for lunch.

I am pleased to note an increased class participation to the Alumni Fund and the percentage was excellent. Let more of us make a contribution in 1976.

Belle Linthicum Masters is now at Plyler's Nursing Home in Richmond. She is doing very well and uses a walker. Elizabeth Brian Nimde is fine, has spent most of the summer at her cottage on the river.

Louise also talks to Sarah Johnson often. Sarah is doing a grand nursing service for her friends.

Because of recent illness, Marian Swift Kitchen was not able to attend the 55th class reunion last spring. She wrote that she is a widow with 18 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Marian and daughter, Adelaide, appeared on a cultural arts program on television. Another daughter, Marilyn Kitchen Vick, is a 1945 MWC graduate. Marian's address is Box 28, Yale, Va. 23897.

Since our 50th reunion will come up in 1976, it is hoped that all of you in the class will return your reunion questionnaire to the Alumni Office so that our Golden Anniversary booklet can be compiled.

Virginia 'Pep' Williams Morris of Ohio and Elizabeth Nowland of Gloucester County, Va., are definitely interested in coming back to MWC next April. Dorothy Chiles Hodnette of Tuscaloosa, Ala., is also planning on being in Virginia in the spring.

Juliet Ware Parker of Dunnsville, Va., Katherene Coates Underwood of Oak Grove, Va., Parke Anderson Fitchette of Gwynn, Va., Julia Rowe Fontaine of Newport News, Va., Ruby Dillard Decker of Richmond, Va., Frances Wolker Anthony of Frederick, Md., Elizabeth Morrison and Elizabeth Harrison Chinn of Fredericksburg, Va., are a few close enough to be able to attend a reunion. Grace Cluverius Van Name and I here in Urbanna hope to get to MWC in April.

Does anyone know where Margaret Sutton is? She was a textile designer in New York City the last anyone heard from her.

Start thinking about and planning to return to MWC on April 9 and 10, 1976.

Our sympathy goes to Nancy Duval Andrews on the death of her father. Also, to Mae Barnes Hawthorne on the death of her grandson in an automobile accident in August. Her daughter, Ginna, was also in the accident, but we are happy to report that she has recovered.

Reunion '74 photos have arrived. These will be put in our scrapbook and will be brought to our reunion in '79. If any of you have others that were taken, please send them for the scrapbook.

Lucy Johnson Pilson and her husband, Howard, are living in Stuart, Va. Howard is a lawyer, and they have two grown children. Lucy works in her husband's office during income tax months. She is president of the local United Methodist Women Woman, secretary of the church's administrative board and a choir member. She is also active in the local Woman's Club and has just completed her 26th year as a volunteer 4-H club leader. She has issued an invitation to any of us who might be in the area to come by and see them – they are a short distance off the Blue Ridge Parkway.

Christine Vassar Farrar attended her 35th high school class reunion. Please make note of her new address.

Jean DeShazo Flemer's husband, Bill, was back in the hospital this past June for surgery. He is doing fine now and is back at work full-time. Their oldest daughter, Diane Reid, graduated from Radford last summer and she and her husband are living in Pembroke. Their middle daughter, Virginia, started her freshman year at Longwood College.

Please write. Also start making your plans for the biggest and best reunion ever in '79.

Bee Melillo Shanahan got to MWC a week after reunion. She tried to find friends, family or alum to make the long trip down from Northport, N.Y., but to no avail. Her family also visited Williamsburg.

With apologies to Gretchen Hogsdon Fisher, the following corrections to our first attempt at Class Agent reporting needs to be made: she has been teaching kindergarten for five years, not four, as well as substituting 2½ years in the high school. She also shares the honor of having the most children of those who attended reunion with Felicia Glave -five! Also, Gretchen has a daughter who is a freshman at MWC this year as does Joan Pedroni Grappe.

It's true – Peggy McRoberts is teaching in Alaska! Her address is Box 311, Bethel, Al. 99559. Give her a call next time you're up that way. 'Didi' Card Woerner is living in Plainfield, N.J. Her husband, Edgar, is president of Woerner Machine and Tool Co. in Piscataway, N.J. Their children are Caroline, 12, and Stephanie, 9. Didi works part-time during the tax season as consultant for H & R Block in Scotch Plains, N.J.

Joan Allen Darden is in Richmond, where she is chairman of a physical education department at an Henrico County high school. She has been very active in her field and has served as Henrico Co. education association rep., and vice-president of the Henrico Teachers Association. The high school yearbook was dedicated to her in 1966 – quite an honor!

Kay Engquist Brown is married to a busy doctor who has an OB and Well Baby Clinic in Williamsburg, Va., which is also their hometown. Kay and Don have five children ranging in age from 6 to 17. Kay does the office nursing as well as a multitude of motherly duties plus school, church and youth work.

Joan Ferrell Shaw and her family are stationed at the Army War College at Carlisle Barracks, Pa. Husband Don is a colonel, teaching in the Department of International and National Security Studies. He is a U.S.M.A. graduate and earned two M.A. degrees from Harvard in public administration and in history. They have three boys, Peter, 17, Dave, 16, and William, 15.
